- How to design and utilize budget
- How to balance a checkbook, write and endorse check
- How to compare and contrast the financial benefits of different products and services offered by a variety of financial institutions.
- To analyze how income and spending plans are affected by age, needs, and resources.
- Describe and calculate interest fees that are applied to various forms of spending, debt, and saving.

Essential Questions

What provocative questions will foster inquiry, understanding, and transfer of learning?

Enduring Understandings

What will students understand about the big ideas?

Why do people need to save money?

Students will understand that...

The three basic reasons for saving money are for an emergency fund, purchases, and building wealth.

How does compound interest work and how does rate of return effect saving?

Compound interest is earning interest on the interest you've earned. Over time, this really adds up. Rate of return (the interest rate) will also make a difference in how large your investments grow over time.

Why do people fail at keeping budgets?

Common problems associated with budget failures are leaving items out, not planning for an emergency, not sticking to the budget and not actually creating a budget.

What are the benefits of having a budget? How does one create a zero-balance budget?	A budget can help remove “crisis” management, find areas where you are overspending, help with keeping healthy relationships, plan for the future, and save/invest. A zero-based budget is spending every dollar on paper before the month begins. Use the student budget form and write down how much money you plan to spend in each category. If you don’t have expenses in categories, leave them blank. The money you spend should always equal the money you earn. That is, “income minus expenses equals zero”—that’s what makes it zero-based. invest originally? How much did you gain or lose?

Instructional Strategies:

1. Interdisciplinary Connections
 - Economics
 - Events in history – stock market crash, evolution of banks, time line of credit and consumerism in America

2. Technology Integration
 - Build interest calculators in google sheets
 - Google classroom interactive assignments
 - Google Docs/Sheets
 - Using Sheets to keep a balanced budget
 - Use Sheets to create a check registry

3. Media Literacy Integration
 - Research, find and compare checking account fee disclosures from different banks

4. Global Perspectives
 - Compare the different interest rates among different countries
 - Compare the national savings average to other countries
 - Discuss the struggles of the Euro
 - Compare the different consumer guidelines for budgeting to different countries
 - Compare how different American spending is to other countries
 - Analyze how personal and cultural values impact

spending and other financial decisions.

- Relate a country's economic system of production and consumption to building personal wealth and achieving societal responsibilities.
- Assess the impact of emerging global economic events on financial planning.

5. Culturally Responsive Teaching

- Understand many cultures have different opinions/philosophies on how much to save
- Be respectful of any myths/beliefs on different investment products
- Understand some religions require members to give a certain amount of their money to their faith
- Understand many cultures have different opinions/philosophies on how to spend money
- Be respectful of any myths/beliefs on spending
- Analyze how citizen decisions and actions can influence the use of economic resources to achieve societal goals and provide individual services.

Unit 2 – Credit and Debt

Standard 9.1 Personal Financial Literacy

All students will develop skills and strategies that promote personal and financial responsibility related to financial planning, savings, investment, and charitable giving in the global economy.

Big Ideas: Course Objectives / Content Statement(s)

Students will learn...

- The dangers and myths associated with debt
- How to negotiate and how/where to find great deals
- Consumer awareness and the many ways companies compete for our money, including product positioning, advertising, brand recognition, and personal selling
- How a FICO score is computed and how to build your credit score
- How to evaluate how media, bias, purpose, and validity affect the prioritization of consumer decisions and spending.

Essential Questions

What provocative questions will foster inquiry, understanding, and transfer of learning?

Enduring Understandings

What will students understand about the big ideas?

How do people get into debt?

Students will understand...

The various ways people get into debt: such as, loaning money to a friend or co-signing a loan, cash advance/rent-to-own, playing the lotto and other gambling, car loans or leasing vehicles, home equity loans or debt consolidation, adjustable rate mortgages, and credit cards.

What is the difference between debit and credit cards?

A credit card is a tool used to finance a purchase. A debit card is linked to your checking account. Both may have the Visa or MasterCard logo. However, to make a purchase using a debit card, the money must be in your account.

How do companies attract customers?

Companies compete for your money by offering financing as a marketing tool, marketing such as TV, radio, internet and

What is opportunity cost and why is it important?	other media advertising, and different product positioning. Opportunity cost is the value of the next best choice that one gives up when making a decision. Opportunity cost causes one to look at what they have to give up in order to make a purchase.
How is your credit score (FICO) calculated?	Your credit score is based on the amount of debt you have. Your FICO score is computed by the following method: 35% is debt history, 30% is debt level, 15% is length of time in debt, 10% is type of debt and 10% is new debt.
How can one protect him/herself from identity theft?	Some precautions that will protect you from identity theft are never carry around your Social Security card, not giving other people your passwords, do not make online transactions on unsecure sites (example: free wireless at a coffee shop), don't give out personal information on the phone or internet unless you know who you are dealing with, and don't use obvious passwords.
What are the keys to negotiating?	Always negotiate everything, have patience, and know where to find the deals.
Where can you find good deals?	Good deals can be found at garage sales, estate sales, flea markets, auctions, repo lots, pawn shops, classified ads, online auctions, consignment shops, foreclosures, couponing, refunding, and conventions

Unit 3 – Financial Planning and Insurance

Standard 9.1 Personal Financial Literacy

All students will develop skills and strategies that promote personal and financial responsibility related to financial planning, savings, investment, and charitable giving in the global economy.

Big Ideas: Course Objectives / Content Statement(s)

Students will learn...

- Basic investment principles such as diversification, liquidity and the risk return ratio
- A range of different types of investments
- The benefits of long and short-term investing using tax-favored plans such as retirement plans and Educational Savings Accounts
- Basic investment principles such as diversification, liquidity and the risk return ratio
- The seven basic types of insurance coverage needed and how/when to purchase them
- About the home buying, selling and renting process
- Various types of mortgage options and the difference between a 15 and 30-year mortgage

Essential Questions

What provocative questions will foster inquiry, understanding, and transfer of learning?

Enduring Understandings

What will students understand about the big ideas?

What is the relationship between diversification and risk?

When you diversify, you spread out your investments and, therefore, lower the risk. If you have all your money in one place, or not diversified, the risk is higher.

What types of investment products exist and what is their description?

- Money markets are an open-ended mutual fund, which invests only in money markets. The goal is to maintain principal with modest dividends. The risk is low.
- Bonds are a debt instrument where the issuer owes you money. They make regular interest payments and pay back the face value at a later date. The risk is lower than stocks.
- Single stocks are a small piece of ownership in a company. As the value of the company goes up, it pays dividends to investors. Single stocks carry a high risk.
- Mutual funds are a pool of money managed by an investment company and invested in multiple companies, bonds, etc.

What are the different types of retirement plans available?	It offers investors a variety of goals, depending on the fund and its investment charter. The risk is low because of diversification. <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Rental real estate is a piece of property owned by a person who rents it out to another. This is the least liquid type of investment.- Annuities are savings accounts with insurance companies. They have a low risk. The different types of retirement plans are: Roth IRA, Traditional IRA, SEPP, 401(k), 403(b), and 457.
How does pre-tax and after-tax savings work?	Pre-tax dollars is money put into an investment before taxes have been taken out so you pay taxes on the money at the time of withdrawal. After-tax dollars is money you have already paid taxes on so the investment will not be taxed at withdrawal
Why is insurance an essential part of a healthy financial plan?	The purpose of insurance is to transfer risk. Unless you have a large amount of cash set aside, you need to transfer that risk to someone who can afford to pay for it.
What are the seven types of insurance needed?	The seven basic types of insurance coverage needed are homeowners, renters, auto, health, disability, life, and long-term care.
What are the different types home mortgages and explain them?	Various types of home mortgages include: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Conventional; down payments range from 5-20% or more and loans are available in all forms. Private Mortgage Insurance (PMI) is required if you don't have 20% down.- FHA (Federal Housing Authority); down payments are as low as 3% and are used on lower priced homes. These loans can be more expensive than conventional financing.- VA (Veterans Administration); designed to benefit the veteran; the seller pays everything

What are the pros and cons of renting versus owning?	and this allows for a zero-down purchase. These loans have lots of fees built in and high interest rates. With a good down payment, the conventional loan is better. <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Owner Financing; you pay the owner over time making him/her the mortgage holder; can be very creative in how you structure the loan. The pros and cons of renting versus owning are: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Advantage of renting is that the tenant is not responsible for maintenance, repairs, taxes, etc. Also, rent is usually less than a house payment.- Disadvantage of renting is that you are not building equity in a house. It is not your property.- Advantage of owning is that a house is a forced savings plan, an inflation hedge, and it grows virtually tax free.- Disadvantage of owning is that you are responsible for all repairs, maintenance, taxes etc. A mortgage is usually more than rent. You are responsible for the mortgage when you sign.
What are the differences between a 15-year loan versus a 30 year-loan?	A 30-year loan greatly increases the length of time it takes to pay off your home and increases the amount of money you pay towards interest. However, monthly payments are usually lower. A 15-year loan will pay less interest and own the house sooner. However, monthly payments are usually higher.

Unit 4 – Income, Taxes & Careers

Standard 9.1 Personal Financial Literacy
All students will develop skills and strategies that promote personal and financial responsibility related to financial planning, savings, investment, and charitable giving in the global economy.
Big Ideas: Course Objectives / Content Statement(s) Students will learn... <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • About career choices and emphasizes the importance that personality traits have in identifying a career • How to implement a successful job search plan and the role of cover letters, resumes and interviews • An overview of different payroll taxes and deductions • How to calculate net pay • About how exemptions and deductions can reduce taxable income.
Essential Questions	Enduring Understandings
What provocative questions will foster inquiry, understanding, and transfer of learning?	What will students understand about the big ideas?
What role does a resume, cover letter and interview play in securing a job? What types of taxes and payroll deductions are there? What is the difference between commission and allowances?	Students will understand that... A cover letter explains why you are sending a resume and highlights some experience or skills that may not be on your resume. A resume lists your personal and work history and an overview of your skills. An interview is the most important part of securing the job. It allows you to make a good first impression, and show the potential employer that you are the right person for the job. Taxes include federal income tax, state income tax, and sometimes local/city tax. Others deductions include FICA, which includes Social Security and Medicare, health benefits, retirement/pension plans, life insurance, etc. Commissions are paid according to the work that actually gets done. It's a great way to teach responsibility and work ethic. Allowances are often paid regardless of the work.
